Google’s Computer Science Summer Institute (CSSI) online program is an intensive and interactive four-week introduction to computer science concepts and careers.

CSSI is an exciting program for students of color with a passion for technology, leadership, and community engagement—especially Black, Latinx, Native American, and Southeast Asian students.

Any graduating high school student who is interested in CS education and careers and who attends high school in Alameda, San Francisco, San Mateo, Santa Clara, or Contra Costa County is eligible to attend. No GPA requirements.

Program Includes:
- Technical and developmental content
- Project work culminating in app creation
- Opportunities to learn from Google employees
- Computer provided

When
Jul 6 - 31
M-F, 3-5 hours/day

Location
Online

How to Apply
Click here to apply
Deadline: May 5th

Questions
risingstem@google.com

www.kaporcenter.org/bayareastem/